Zelle has a long history of active involvement in pharmaceutical and medical device matters. We have defended pharmaceutical and medical device manufacturers against product liability claims in the United States and abroad for nearly twenty years. Whether spearheading crisis response efforts, addressing clinical trial surprises, responding to Congressional and national media inquiries, or developing nationwide litigation and settlement programs, Zelle has guided pharmaceutical and medical device manufacturers through all stages of product-related investigations and lawsuits.

We have also defended pharmaceutical and medical device manufacturers in a wide variety of intellectual property and commercial litigation matters, giving Zelle a unique appreciation of our clients' business concerns and objectives.

In addition to defending manufacturers, Zelle has represented insurers – as coverage counsel and monitoring counsel – in a broad range of matters involving pharmaceutical products and medical devices.
